

Case File 09

£20,000 in sales. £600 in the bank.: script, description, thumbnails and SEO

Prepared 5 October 2026

How this follows the brief

- New hook: “£20,000 in sales. £600 in the bank. So why is Friday still stressful?”: a money contrast every small business owner recognises.
- New format: a cash calendar (money out vs money in), then a 4-line checklist of the contract terms that decide when you get paid.
- New fonts: Big Shoulders Display, Plus Jakarta Sans, Red Hat Mono and Newsreader italic (not used in Cases 01–08).
- Authority: two direct quotes from GOV.UK on when a business payment becomes late.
- Multi-colour, calm: per the latest feedback, the colour changes once per section (5 changes), not every scene, on dark backgrounds, so the text stays the focus. The scene table shows the colour for each scene.
- Language & SEO: conversational British English used UK-wide; researched phrases spoken and shown early and used in the title, description and tags.
- Conversion: a comment prompt with numbered answers plus “dogetlawyer.com, link in bio” with a LINK IN BIO button.
- Compliance: no prices or offers, no statistics, legal points hedged as “general position”, all names/figures fictional and labelled, standard fine print on the closing card.

Before posting

- ☐ Record the voiceover (clean read on page 4) and drop it onto the silent audio track.
- ☐ Make sure dogetlawyer.com is the link in bio.
- ☐ Upload the thumbnail / vertical cover and paste the title, description, tags and pinned comment.
- ☐ Check average % viewed after 24 hours.

Files

Item	File (repo: sobarslap/DGL_private)
Video	videos/dogetlawyer_case-file-09_1080x1920.mp4 (1:45, 1080x1920, silent track for VO)
Thumbnails	thumbnails/case-09_thumbnail_1280x720.png • thumbnails/case-09_cover_1080x1920.png

£20,000 in sales. £600 in the bank.

"The diary's full. So why is Friday still stressful?" Payment terms and cash flow (Short 10, Business health)

Video file	videos/dogetlawyer_case-file-09_1080x1920.mp4
Spec	1:45 (105 s) • 1080x1920 vertical • 30 fps • captions burned in • silent audio track ready for voiceover
Format	Hook (sales vs bank balance) → cash calendar (money out on days 7, 14 and 28; customer pays on day 60) → "4 lines that decide when you get paid" → what GOV.UK says → ask for terms that match your bills → product → comment prompt → link in bio
Look	Colour changes once per section (5 changes): forest & black (hook), burgundy & charcoal (the gap), petrol blue (the 4 lines), plum & ink (the fix), back to forest for the close. Dark, calm grounds with a faint calendar grid; bright colour only on key words. Big Shoulders Display headlines, Plus Jakarta Sans body, Red Hat Mono labels, Newsreader italic asides.
Topic	Payment terms in your contracts decide when cash actually arrives: terms, when the clock starts, deposits/stage payments, and the default if nothing is agreed.

Thumbnails

Left: YouTube thumbnail 1280x720 (thumbnails/case-09_thumbnail_1280x720.png). Right: vertical cover for Shorts / Reels / TikTok 1080x1920 (thumbnails/case-09_cover_1080x1920.png).

Titles

Recommended: £20,000 in Sales, £600 in the Bank? It Might Be Your Payment Terms

Alternative: Busy but Broke? 4 Contract Lines That Decide When You Get Paid (UK)

Add the UK flag emoji at the end of the title when posting.

Hook (first 3–7 seconds)

"Twenty grand in sales this month. Six hundred quid actually in the bank. The diary's full. So why is Friday still stressful?" (On screen: £20,000 IN SALES. → £600. → SO WHY IS FRIDAY STILL STRESSFUL? → IT'S THE TIMING.)

Script: scene by scene

Time	Section	On screen	Voiceover
0:00–0:04	The month forest & black	THIS MONTH · £20,000 IN SALES.	Twenty grand in sales this month.
0:04–0:07	The month forest & black	IN THE BANK · £600. · Available. Right now.	Six hundred quid actually in the bank.
0:07–0:12	The month forest & black	THE DIARY'S FULL. SO WHY IS FRIDAY STILL STRESSFUL?	The diary's full. So why is Friday still stressful?
0:12–0:17	The month forest & black	IT'S THE TIMING. · And the timing is written in your contracts.	Often it's not the sales. It's the timing. And the timing is written in your contracts.
0:17–0:26	The gap burgundy & charcoal	Calendar: OUT on day 7 (supplier), 14 (rent), 28 (wages) · MONEY IN: customer pays on day 60. Not this month.	Here's how it happens. Your supplier wants paying in fourteen days. Rent and wages don't wait. But your biggest customer pays in sixty days. The money's earned. It's just not here yet.
0:26–0:32	The gap burgundy & charcoal	YOU PAY IN 14 DAYS · THEY PAY IN 60 DAYS (bars) · That gap is where Friday gets stressful.	You pay in fourteen days. They pay in sixty. That gap is where Friday gets stressful.
0:32–0:37	4 lines petrol blue	4 LINES THAT DECIDE WHEN YOU GET PAID.	So check these four lines in your contracts. They decide when you actually get paid.
0:37–0:45	Line 1 petrol blue	LINE 1 OF 4 · THE PAYMENT TERMS. · 30 days? 60 days? 90 days?	One. The payment terms. Thirty days? Sixty? Ninety? Know the number for every customer, and every supplier.
0:45–0:54	Line 2 petrol blue	LINE 2 OF 4 · WHEN THE CLOCK STARTS. · "60 days end of month" · Invoice on the 2nd? That can be nearly 90 days.	Two. When the clock starts. From the invoice? From delivery? And sixty days end of month can mean nearly ninety.
0:54–1:01	Line 3 petrol blue	LINE 3 OF 4 · DEPOSITS & STAGE PAYMENTS. · Up front? At milestones? All at the end?	Three. Deposits and stage payments. Is any money due up front, or at milestones? Or does it all land at the end?
1:01–1:10	Line 4 petrol blue	LINE 4 OF 4 · NOTHING AGREED? · GOV.UK quote: late 30 days after the invoice or delivery (if later) · Late Payment of Commercial Debts (Interest) Act 1998	Four. What if no payment date's agreed at all? GOV.UK says the payment's late thirty days after the invoice, or after you deliver, if that's later.
1:10–1:17	Line 4 petrol blue	OVER 60 DAYS? IT MUST BE FAIR TO BOTH. · GOV.UK quote	And for business deals, terms over sixty days are allowed. But they have to be fair to both sides.
1:17–1:21	The fix plum & ink	ASK FOR TERMS THAT MATCH YOUR BILLS. · (✓) Shorter payment terms (✓) A deposit up front (✓) Stage payments	Before you sign the next one, ask for terms that match your own bills.
1:21–1:30	The fix plum & ink	Product: PAYMENT TERMS · ALL CONTRACTS (Money in: Brightwell Retail 60 days end of month; Corran Events 30 days + 25% deposit · Money out: Ashby Packaging 14 days; Unit 4, Mill Lane lease monthly on the 1st)	That's where Dogetlawyer helps. Every contract in one place, with the payment terms on record. Who pays you, when. And when you pay them.
1:30–1:35	The fix plum & ink	SO PAYDAY ISN'T A SURPRISE.	So payday's never a surprise.

Time	Section	On screen	Voiceover
1:35–1:40	Your turn forest & black	WHAT TERMS DO YOUR CUSTOMERS GET? 14 · 30 · 60 · 90	What terms do your customers get? Comment fourteen, thirty, sixty or ninety.
1:40–1:45	Dogetlawyer forest & black	DOGETLAWYER · KNOW WHEN YOU'RE PAID. · dogetlawyer.com · LINK IN BIO · fine print	Check your terms at dogetlawyer.com. Link in bio.

Voiceover: clean read for the voice artist

Delivery: chatty and a bit exasperated for the hook ("twenty grand... six hundred quid"), slower and clear through the calendar, then brisk and practical for the four lines. About 155 words per minute

Twenty grand in sales this month. Six hundred quid actually in the bank. The diary's full. So why is Friday still stressful? Often it's not the sales. It's the timing. And the timing is written in your contracts. Here's how it happens. Your supplier wants paying in fourteen days. Rent and wages don't wait. But your biggest customer pays in sixty days. The money's earned. It's just not here yet. You pay in fourteen days. They pay in sixty. That gap is where Friday gets stressful. So check these four lines in your contracts. They decide when you actually get paid. One. The payment terms. Thirty days? Sixty? Ninety? Know the number for every customer, and every supplier. Two. When the clock starts. From the invoice? From delivery? And sixty days end of month can mean nearly ninety. Three. Deposits and stage payments. Is any money due up front, or at milestones? Or does it all land at the end? Four. What if no payment date's agreed at all? GOV.UK says the payment's late thirty days after the invoice, or after you deliver, if that's later. And for business deals, terms over sixty days are allowed. But they have to be fair to both sides. Before you sign the next one, ask for terms that match your own bills. That's where Dogetlawyer helps. Every contract in one place, with the payment terms on record. Who pays you, when. And when you pay them. So payday's never a surprise. What terms do your customers get? Comment fourteen, thirty, sixty or ninety. Check your terms at dogetlawyer.com. Link in bio.

Description (YouTube / Shorts; trim for Instagram & TikTok)

Busy month, but nothing in the bank? Often it's not your sales, it's the payment terms in your contracts. If you pay suppliers in 14 days but customers pay you in 60, that gap is where cash flow gets tight.

Check these 4 lines in your contracts:

1. The payment terms (30, 60, 90 days?)
2. When the clock starts ("60 days end of month" can mean nearly 90)
3. Deposits and stage payments
4. What happens if no payment date is agreed

→ Keep every contract's payment terms in one place at dogetlawyer.com (link in bio)

0:00 £20,000 in sales, £600 in the bank · 0:17 The cash gap · 0:32 4 lines to check · 1:01 What GOV.UK says · 1:17 Before you sign · 1:21 Keeping track · 1:35 Your turn

Source: GOV.UK, "Late commercial payments: charging interest and debt recovery" (when a payment becomes late); Late Payment of Commercial Debts (Interest) Act 1998. General position in England & Wales; outcomes turn on the facts and the contract. All names and figures shown are fictional examples. Dogetlawyer is contract management software for UK small businesses, not a substitute for legal advice.

Tags

payment terms, cash flow, cash flow problems small business, 30 day payment terms, 60 day payment terms, end of month payment terms, late payment UK, invoice payment terms, deposit, stage payments, small business UK, business health

Hashtags

#smallbusinessuk #cashflow #paymentterms #invoice #ukbusiness #latepayment #businesstips

Pinned comment

What terms do your customers get: 14, 30, 60 or 90 days? (add a pointing-down emoji when posting)

SEO keywords used (and where)

Keyword	Where it appears
payment terms	Spoken at 0:12 and 0:32; Line 1; title; description
cash flow	Description, tags, alt title
30 / 60 / 90 days	Line 1 chips; comment prompt end of month	Line 2
late payment / GOV.UK	Line 4 quote; sources
deposit / stage payments	Line 3; the fix

Sources & compliance

- GOV.UK, "Late commercial payments: charging interest and debt recovery", quoted verbatim: with no agreed date, payment is late 30 days after the customer gets the invoice or you deliver (if later); terms over 60 days for business transactions must be fair to both businesses. Late Payment of Commercial Debts (Interest) Act 1998.
- Short 10 rule held: no claim that Dogetlawyer recovers money, chases invoices or manages cash. It is shown holding payment terms on record only. "Ask for terms that match your bills" is a commercial tip, not legal advice.
- No statistics; no prices or offers; demo scene labelled FICTIONAL DEMO EXAMPLE; standard fine print on the closing card.