

Case File 10

FINAL. FINAL2. FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL.: script, description, thumbnails and SEO

Prepared 5 October 2026

How this follows the brief

- New hook: "FINAL. FINAL2. FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL. Which one did you sign?": the file-naming chaos everyone has seen.
- New format: an interactive spot-the-difference game: 3 rounds, a 3-second countdown, then the change is highlighted. Viewers play along, which keeps them watching.
- New fonts: Bricolage Grotesque, Outfit, Fira Code and Libre Baskerville (not used in Cases 01–09).
- Authority: a direct quote from the Law Commission on electronic signatures.
- Multi-colour, calm: per the latest feedback, the colour changes once per section (5 changes), not every scene, on dark backgrounds, so the text stays the focus. The scene table shows the colour for each scene.
- Language & SEO: conversational British English used UK-wide; researched phrases spoken and shown early and used in the title, description and tags.
- Conversion: a comment prompt with numbered answers plus "dogetlawyer.com, link in bio" with a LINK IN BIO button.
- Compliance: no prices or offers, no statistics, legal points hedged as "general position", all names/figures fictional and labelled, standard fine print on the closing card.

Before posting

- ☐ Record the voiceover (clean read on page 4) and drop it onto the silent audio track.
- ☐ Make sure dogetlawyer.com is the link in bio.
- ☐ Upload the thumbnail / vertical cover and paste the title, description, tags and pinned comment.
- ☐ Check average % viewed after 24 hours.

Files

| Item       | File (repo: sobarslap/DGL_private)                                                   |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Video      | videos/dogetlawyer_case-file-10_1080x1920.mp4 (1:45, 1080x1920, silent track for V0) |
| Thumbnails | thumbnails/case-10_thumbnail_1280x720.png • thumbnails/case-10_cover_1080x1920.png   |

FINAL. FINAL2. FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL.

"Which one did you sign?" Contract versions and the signed copy (Short 11, Which final?)

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Video file | videos/dogetlawyer_case-file-10_1080x1920.mp4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Spec       | 1:45 (105 s) · 1080×1920 vertical · 30 fps · captions burned in · silent audio track ready for voiceover                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Format     | Hook (file names stacking up) → "Which one did you sign?" → spot-the-difference game, 3 rounds with a 3-second countdown (payment 30 → 60 days; notice 1 → 3 months; liability cap shrinks) → entire agreement clause → e-signatures usually count → 3 checks → product → comment prompt → link in bio                                                                                                          |
| Look       | Colour changes once per section (5 changes): charcoal & ember (hook), deep navy & teal (the game), aubergine (the law), bottle green (the fix), back to charcoal & ember for the close. Dark, calm grounds with a soft glow; clauses shown on white "paper" cards with the change highlighted. Bricolage Grotesque headlines, Outfit body, Fira Code labels, Libre Baskerville for documents and italic asides. |
| Topic      | Version confusion: small changes between drafts can change the deal, the signed version is usually what counts, so check changes and keep the signed copy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

Thumbnails

Left: YouTube thumbnail 1280×720 (thumbnails/case-10_thumbnail1280x720.png). Right: vertical cover for Shorts / Reels / TikTok 1080×1920 (thumbnails/case-10_cover_1080x1920.png).

Titles

Recommended: FINAL, FINAL2, FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL: Which Contract Did You Sign?

Alternative: Spot the Difference: 3 Contract Changes Nobody Tells You About (UK)

Add the UK flag emoji at the end of the title when posting.

Hook (first 3–7 seconds)

"Final. Final two. Final, actually final. Quick question. Which one did you actually sign? Everyone's got the contract. Not everyone's got the same one." (On screen: Contract_FINAL.docx / FINAL2 / FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL → WHICH ONE DID YOU SIGN?)

Script: scene by scene

| Time      | Section                         | On screen                                                                                                                                                                                     | Voiceover                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----------|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0:00–0:04 | The filescharcoal & ember   | SHARED DRIVE · Contract_FINAL.docx / Contract_FINAL2.docx / Contract_FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL.docx · FINAL. FINAL2. FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL.                                                         | Final. Final two. Final, actually final.                                                                                                                                                    |
| 0:04–0:08 | The filescharcoal & ember   | WHICH ONE DID YOU SIGN?                                                                                                                                                                       | Quick question. Which one did you actually sign?                                                                                                                                            |
| 0:08–0:12 | The filescharcoal & ember   | EVERYONE HAS THE CONTRACT. NOT EVERYONE HAS THE SAME ONE.                                                                                                                                     | Everyone's got the contract. Not everyone's got the same one.                                                                                                                               |
| 0:12–0:17 | The gamedeep navy & teal    | SPOT THE DIFFERENCE. · Three rounds. Three seconds each. Go.                                                                                                                                  | Let's play spot the difference. Three seconds each.                                                                                                                                         |
| 0:17–0:25 | Round 1deep navy & teal     | ROUND 1 OF 3 · Version 3 vs Version 4 payment clause · 3-2-1 · highlight 30 → 60 · 30 BECAME 60.                                                                                              | Round one. Version three, and version four. Spotted it? Thirty days became sixty. That's a month longer to get paid.                                                                        |
| 0:25–0:34 | Round 2deep navy & teal     | ROUND 2 OF 3 · notice clause · highlight one month's → three months' · 1 MONTH BECAME 3.                                                                                                      | Round two. Look closely. One month's notice became three. That's two extra months you're locked in.                                                                                         |
| 0:34–0:43 | Round 3deep navy & teal     | ROUND 3 OF 3 · liability clause · highlight "under this agreement" → "in the last three months" · THE CAP SHRANK.                                                                             | Round three. The cap on what they'd pay if it goes wrong. Now it's only the last three months' fees.                                                                                        |
| 0:43–0:49 | The gamedeep navy & teal    | ONE WORD. ONE NUMBER. DIFFERENT DEAL.                                                                                                                                                         | One word. One number. A different deal. And nobody sent you a list of changes.                                                                                                              |
| 0:49–0:59 | The catchaubergine          | THE SIGNED ONE IS USUALLY THE DEAL. · "12. Entire agreement" clause card (typical wording, fictional example)                                                                                 | Here's the catch. Lots of contracts have an entire agreement clause. It says the signed document is the whole deal. So what you agreed in an email may not count.                           |
| 0:59–1:06 | The catchaubergine          | IT USUALLY COUNTS. · Law Commission quote on electronic signatures (2019, England & Wales)                                                                                                    | And clicking sign on a screen usually counts too. The Law Commission says an electronic signature can be used to sign a document.                                                           |
| 1:06–1:11 | 3 checksbottle green        | 3 QUICK CHECKS.                                                                                                                                                                               | So before you sign, three quick checks.                                                                                                                                                     |
| 1:11–1:22 | 3 checksbottle green        | 01 Ask what's changed · 02 Read the one you're signing · 03 Save the signed copy (each ticks)                                                                                                 | One. Ask what's changed since the last version, in writing. Two. Read the version you're signing, not the one you remember. Three. Save the signed copy, dated, where everyone can find it. |
| 1:22–1:31 | The fixbottle green         | Product: SIGNED VERSIONS · ALL CONTRACTS (Ellison Freight v4 · 12 Aug 2026; Marlow Studio v2 · 3 Jun 2026; Pell & Hart Supplies: not signed yet, draft v3) · So nobody's working from FINAL2. | That's what Dogetlawyer is for. Every contract in one place, with the signed version on record, and the date it was signed. So nobody's working from final two.                             |
| 1:31–1:35 | The fixbottle green         | ONE CONTRACT. ONE VERSION.                                                                                                                                                                    | One contract. One version.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 1:35–1:40 | Your turncharcoal & ember   | MOST "FINALS" YOU'VE SEEN ON ONE FILE? 2 · 3 · 4 · 5+                                                                                                                                         | Be honest. What's the most finals you've seen on one file? Comment the number.                                                                                                              |
| 1:40–1:45 | Dogetlawyercharcoal & ember | DOGETLAWYER · KNOW WHICH ONE YOU SIGNED. · dogetlawyer.com · LINK IN BIO · fine print                                                                                                         | Keep track of what you signed at dogetlawyer.com. Link in bio.                                                                                                                              |

Voiceover: clean read for the voice artist

Delivery: playful for the file names, game-show energy for the three rounds (leave the 3-second countdown silent before each answer), then calm and clear for the law and the checks. About 155 words per minute.

Final. Final two. Final, actually final. Quick question. Which one did you actually sign? Everyone's got the contract. Not everyone's got the same one. Let's play spot the difference. Three seconds each. Round one. Version three, and version four. Spotted it? Thirty days became sixty. That's a month longer to get paid. Round two. Look closely. One month's notice became three. That's two extra months you're locked in. Round three. The cap on what they'd pay if it goes wrong. Now it's only the last three months' fees. One word. One number. A different deal. And nobody sent you a list of changes. Here's the catch. Lots of contracts have an entire agreement clause. It says the signed document is the whole deal. So what you agreed in an email may not count. And clicking sign on a screen usually counts too. The Law Commission says an electronic signature can be used to sign a document. So before you sign, three quick checks. One. Ask what's changed since the last version, in writing. Two. Read the version you're signing, not the one you remember. Three. Save the signed copy, dated, where everyone can find it. That's what Dogetlawyer is for. Every contract in one place, with the signed version on record, and the date it was signed. So nobody's working from final two. One contract. One version. Be honest. What's the most finals you've seen on one file? Comment the number. Keep track of what you signed at dogetlawyer.com. Link in bio.

Description (YouTube / Shorts; trim for Instagram & TikTok)

Contract_FINAL. Contract_FINAL2. Contract_FINAL_ACTUALLY_FINAL. Which one did you actually sign? Play spot the difference: one word or one number between versions can change the whole deal: payment terms, notice periods, liability caps. And many contracts have an entire agreement clause, so the signed version is usually what counts, not what you agreed in an email. An electronic signature usually counts too.

Before you sign, 3 checks:

1. Ask what's changed since the last version, in writing
2. Read the version you're signing, not the one you remember
3. Save the signed copy, dated, where everyone can find it

→ Keep the signed version of every contract in one place at dogetlawyer.com (link in bio)

0:00 Which one did you sign? · 0:12 Spot the difference · 0:49 The entire agreement clause · 0:59

E-signatures · 1:06 3 checks · 1:22 Keeping track · 1:35 Your turn

Source: Law Commission, "Electronic execution of documents" (2019): an electronic signature is capable in law of being used to execute a document, provided the signer intends to authenticate it and any formalities are met. General position in England & Wales; outcomes turn on the facts and the contract. All names and documents shown are fictional examples. Dogetlawyer is contract management software for UK small businesses, not a substitute for legal advice.

Tags

which version of the contract, signed contract, contract versions, final version contract, entire agreement clause, electronic signature UK, e-signature legal UK, contract changes, redline, contract management, small business UK

Hashtags

#smallbusinessuk #contracts #contractmanagement #ukbusiness #esignature #businesstips

Pinned comment

Be honest: most "finals" you've seen on one file? 2, 3, 4 or 5+? (add a pointing-down emoji when posting)

SEO keywords used (and where)

| Keyword                                 | Where it appears              |
|-----------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| signed version / which one did you sign | Hook (0:04); product; title   |
| contract versions / final version       | Hook file names; title        |
| spot the difference / contract changes  | 0:12–0:49; alt title          |
| entire agreement clause                 | 0:49 scene; description       |
| electronic signature                    | 0:59 scene; description; tags |

Sources & compliance

- Law Commission, "Electronic execution of documents" (2019), Statement of the law, quoted verbatim with its conditions (intention to authenticate; formalities satisfied). Entire agreement clause explained in general terms, hedged as "usually"; the clause card is labelled typical wording, fictional example.
- Product shown holding the signed version and signing date on record (consistent with the contract register in Case 01). No claim that it detects or compares changes automatically.
- No statistics; no prices or offers; demo scenes labelled FICTIONAL DEMO EXAMPLE; standard fine print on the closing card.